

Job Opening: Experienced Civil Project Engineer

Job Description:

Wallis Engineering is seeking a licensed civil project engineer with strong team working skills. This position is to provide consulting services for municipal infrastructure which may include water/wastewater or transportation focus. Roles may include serving as lead design engineer or staff engineer depending on the project. In addition, marketing tasks may involve assisting with the writing of proposals, assisting/attending client presentations, and meeting with potential clients with or without the assistance of a senior engineer.

We seek a highly technical individual who will enjoy working on the planning, design, and construction engineering for public agency projects. Minimum requirements for the position are a B.S. in Civil or Environmental Engineering. Desired experience is 5-10 years.

About the Firm:

Wallis Engineering is a public works civil engineering consulting engineering firm, based in downtown Vancouver, and serving the Portland metropolitan and Southwest Washington area. We are currently celebrating 30 years in business and planning for the next 30 years. We focus upon design and construction engineering projects for municipalities and utility districts. We define our engineering as “Seriously Civil”, which we define as “of or about the safety, health, and welfare of citizens”. In essence, we look beyond the purely functional aspects of our engineering to the broader impacts upon the public and the affordability and livability of the built landscape which our projects shape and sustain.

We offer a commitment to a positive work/life balance for all of our employees and want to maintain our strong team environment. Our benefits package includes competitive compensation, medical/dental benefits, 401(k) retirement plan, Flexible Spending Accounts, and gym subsidies. If you are looking for an opportunity to use your engineering design talents in collaboration with our engineering team, please email a cover letter and resume to: recruiting@walliseng.net.
